Biographical Sketch - Tips

A biographical sketch is a personal document about you - who you are, what you care about, why you want to go into the field of study you've chosen, and/or why you want to explore different options before you settle on a post-secondary pathway.

Explain why you are applying for a Bursary or Scholarship (see definitions on page 3).

Examples are writing about your achievements, awards, volunteerism, leadership, sports and art activities, character strengths, values and beliefs, employment and commitments.

General Information Regarding the Interview Process

Students who proceed to the interview process will be assigned an interview date and time. If extenuating circumstances prevent you from attending this interview date/time, please contact the Mission Community Foundation Executive Director to reschedule.

The interview itself is quite short (10-15 minutes). The Committee will be asking 2 open-ended questions to learn more about you.

Questions will be asked pertaining to academic performance, career goals, post-secondary plans, volunteer work, extra-curricular activities, and life in general. The Committee can only adjudicate based on the information provided, so you are encouraged to share as much about yourself as you are comfortable with.

The Committee is looking for well-rounded applicants and community members, so expanding on these areas is encouraged (but not required) during your interview.

The intent of this revised process is to take the surprise element out of the interview process. However, due to time limitations, interviewees are strongly encouraged to prepare their thoughts in a precise manner to best present themselves.

Due to the nature of our interview process, we are unable to extend interviews beyond their time slots. On average, you should be prepared to talk about yourself for approximately 8-10 minutes. Should you feel that 10 minutes is not enough time to talk about your life and accomplishments, the biographical sketch portion of your application is a great place to put extra details.

Should you have any questions regarding the interview process or its format, please feel free to reach out to the Executive Director of the Mission Community Foundation, and your questions will be forwarded to and answered by our Scholarship Committee.

Personal Information Waiver and Permission Form

In accordance with the Personal Information and Electronic Documents Act, Mission Community Foundation must advise how personal information collected will be used and must receive your permission to share your personal information.

The Mission Community Foundation regularly posts pictures of Scholarship and Bursary recipients on the Mission Community Foundation website, Facebook page and X accounts. Additionally, photos are submitted to print media for publication.

In accordance with the above, the Mission Community Foundation requests permission to publish photos in the above manner.

- I grant Mission Community Foundation permission to use my photo in their publications as identified above.

- I DO NOT grant Mission Community Foundation permission to use my photo in their publications as identified above.

Letters of Recommendation Tip Sheet

Mission Community Foundation is here to help support students and families with the significant costs associated with post-secondary education by awarding Bursaries and Scholarships.

Letters of Recommendation should give an idea about the personal characteristics, strengths, and capabilities of the student to help the Scholarship/Bursary Interview Committee make decisions.

Family members cannot provide a Letter of Recommendation.

CONTENT

Opening paragraph: The writer should explain the relationship with the student.

Body of letter: The writer should provide specific information on the student as follows:

- Personal characteristics
- Specific areas of strength
- How the student interacts with others
- Exceptional skills, knowledge, experience, background

Closing paragraph: Summarize points and clearly state you are recommending the student for a Scholarship or Bursary.
